KIRIAKOS MAZOKOPOS' CASE

K. Mazokopos fought in 1975 in the big strike of the building workers, in 1976 against the enforcement of the law 330 which was put forbid the self-organized fierce strike. In the early eighties he took part in the movement in support to the revolted people in the prisons. He was prosecuted because he was one of them who showed that THE COPS SELL THE HEROIN.

KIRIAKOS

MAZOKOPOS

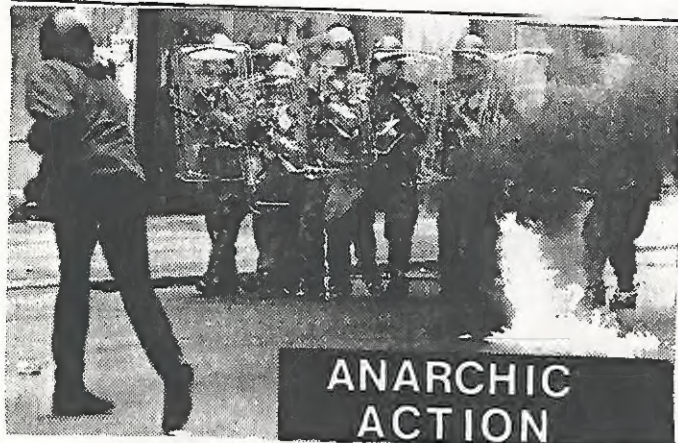

A part of the statement of K. Mazokopos after his arrest:

I realize that I shoulder great responsibilities about things that happened and others which are probably going to happen.

For reasons of personal principles and morality it was imposible for me to have any other attitude during the interrogation.

My principles have been formed (moulded) in a social movement that from the beggining of the period of the political changeover (the period after the dictatorship) and according to the priorities that the authority poses each time, object to the activities of the authority. During this period this movement is the only voice of protest and resistance in Greece against the new-liberal totalitarianism which tries to dominate all over the world.

GEORGE BALAFAS' CASE

On December 2, 1992, the "most dangerous and wanted (for seven years now) greek terrorist", Giorgos Balafas was arrested in Athens, at the house of his friend Andreas Kiriakopoulos. Balafas and his (female) friend Vasiliki Mihou visited Andreas at the night of his name day.

Balafas is accused of founding and being a member of "ANTI-STATE STRUGGLE", an anarchist guerilla group which:

- Executed the state prosecutor Theofanopoulos (1-4-1985)
- Robbed the "Sklavenitis Super Market" (during the robbery, a cop was executed) (16-5-85)

- Executed 3 cops at "Gizi's Battle". During this fight Cristos Tsutsuvis also died. Tsutsuvis has been an armed militant more than 15 years. He started as a member of PAK, a socialist (1967-1974). When the "democracy" was restored he became a member of "Revolutionary People's Struggle" (E.L.A.)

Balafas has been sought by the police since the "Gizi's Battle". He went underground and during all these years, issuing several press releases, he denied that he is a member of "A-S.S.". The only "evidence" connecting him and "A-S.S." are:

- That he was a cousin and friend of Tsutsuvis
- A supposed fingerprint of his, discovered on a...pack of cookies at the "safehouse" of Kalama str. where Tsutsuvis was keeping guns, explosives, typewriters, tools etc.

CHRISTOS

A PART OF GEORGE BALAFAS' STATEMENT

The focal point in this case is not only which values, ideals, and moral characteristics a pursued person should possess in order to be supported but also which characteristics should one possess in order to support the pursued person. Because solidarity is not a "salvage" only to the one who "collects" it, but equally to the one who "gives" it. Unfortunately today, if the support to the "terrorist" is minimized, the same way it is minimized when it concerns the striker, the unemployed, the squatter, the refugee, the foreigner(...)

THE STATE IS THE ONLY TERRORIST

DIMITRIS MELETIS AN ANARCHIST PRISONER

In 1979 Dimitris Meletis and G.Daskalopoulos robbed up a branch of the National Bank at Patission st. in the centre of Athens. The second one killed an official of O.T.E. (Organization of Telecommunication of Greece) during the robbery and he fastened the murder on Meletis during the trial.

In 1981 (February the 5th) Meletis and Daskalopoulos have been convicted the first one to life imprisonment and the second one to 22 years imprisonment.

Meletis stated in court that he is an anarchist and he intended to offer the money from the robbery to the anarchist movement. He also maintained that the money of the banks belong to the people.

Since 1981 D.Meletis has taken part in all the prisoner's struggles.

ABOUT THE EDITION

This informative bulletin is just the second of this effort and we hope that, from our part, we will achieve to send you continuously informations about the events that happen in Greece and are concerning activities against the state.

The A-News will be published when we will have important news to write which concern the repression of the state against the anarchists and the action of the anarchic movement in Greece.

In this second effort we haven't written many events which concern the society but standard anarchic news.

We hope in next bulletin to include more events and not only from Athens.
